

adopting assessment

stakeholders

The stakeholders drive the assessment effort. The first step is to learn to specify the concerns explicitly. The second step is to learn how to transform the analysis output into actions. Finally, they have to learn how to initiate and drive the process.

facilitators

The facilitators ensure that the assessment process works out smoothly. First, they have to learn to work with stakeholders to identify valuable concerns. Second, they have to learn to craft tools fast. Finally, they have to learn to facilitate and ensure that stakeholders make a decision.
